Ordinance Describes Building Regulations For This Class District

AREA REGULATIONS

Lot Area Must Have 1,250 Square Feet Per Family

The Courier herewith presents the third installment of a series of articles giving a condensed summary of the proposed zoning ordinance for Bristol Borough. Two public hearings, April 28th and May 5th, have been announced, at which time the proposed ordinance will be considered by those interested. Believing the public to be keenly interested in the proposed law, the Courier presents this series. It is suggested that all of the series be preserved, as from time to time reference may be made to articles previously published so as to prevent much duplication.

ZONING MAP

The zoning map which the Courier planned to publish today was spoiled in the making and will not be published until a later date.

Passover Begins Today At Sunset for Reformed Jews

Passover, or Pesach, begins at sundown today and for Reform Jews concludes at sundown Wednesday, April 20th. Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe it on the first and last two days being Holy Convocations. The Hebrew date is the 15th of Nisan.

Passover is the oldest festival of liberty in the annals of civilization. Thirty-five hundred years ago the enslaved Jews revolted against the tyranny of the Egyptian taskmasters, escaped from slavery, blazed a trail across the wilderness, crossed the Jordan, and conquered Palestine, the Promised Land.

Since that day the Jews have observed this season with prayer and thanksgiving to God for the ideals of liberty and truth. The Passover meal, or Seder, ushers in the holidays on the first night, and the whole history of the Passover is recited to the children. During this season unleavened bread or matzos is eaten, in commemoration of the fact that when the Jews fled Egypt they had no time to leaven their bread.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman sent the North Atlantic treaty to the Senate yesterday and asked for its ratification as a "long" step toward "a just and lasting peace." He made no request for speed, nor did he mention the arms-aid program to implement the pact. In New York City Australia's Deputy Prime Minister Ewart disclosed that his nation and the United States were studying a similar treaty for the Pacific area.

Although Defense Secretary Johnson said that he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff felt "war is a little further off today than it was a little while ago" two new steps were taken to meet any "emergency." Agreement was reached with Britain on technical "facilities" for the United States Air Force if atomic bombing was called for in Europe, and arrangements were completed with Canada for joint industrial mobilization in event of war.

A British suggestion that the United States finance the strengthening of the Greek Army was rejected on the ground that present aid was sufficient to defeat the guerrillas if properly used. In Salonika a witness who said he had been a Russian policeman accused Greek Communists of the murder of George Polk, a United States correspondent.

V. F. W., WAR MOTHERS TO PAY FOR MEMORIAL

Two Pennel Organizations Accept Responsibility For That Phase of Project

DONATIONS SOUGHT

PENNDDEL, Apr. 13—Middletown Post, No. 6084, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Douglas MacArthur Chapter, No. 1, American War Mothers, both of this community, have accepted responsibility for and will pay the costs of the memorial part of the war memorial center at Pennel Memorial Recreation Park, according to an announcement made today by park officials.

This beautiful memorial has been designed by Henry McGrath, Langhorne Manor, registered architect. The memorial is to be constructed of native stone to "grow" out of the front of the present building at the park entrance. It is to be topped with an American eagle. A three-section stone bench, with lawn in the center area of same, will extend from the building. A bronze plaque, 39x24 inches, will be placed on the memorial. Mr. McGrath will receive bids from local contractors for completion of the memorial, and will oversee installation of the same. He has worked with the park committee from the time the ground was secured. He first made the master plan of the entire field, then planned the building for the entrance which is fitted with toilets, storage space and dressing rooms. Mr. McGrath has made plans, and furnished scores of blue-prints free of charge, which park officials state is a great incentive to others giving of their time and talent.

AN ADDRESS BY SEN. EDWARD MARTIN

Because it is a timely and able summary of the basic problems facing the American people, the Courier presents herewith the text of an address on the European Recovery Program made April 1 by Pennsylvania's Senator Edward Martin on the floor of the U. S. Senate.

Mr. President, the outcome of these deliberations and the course we take in related matters may be the deciding factors between national solvency and national bankruptcy.

Therefore, in my opinion, it is incumbent upon us to weigh carefully and consider thoroughly the implications contained in the measure before us.

It should be tested in the light of the whole financial structure that has been erected in years of mounting debt, increasing taxation, and overgrown spending.

No thinking American could fail to be deeply impressed by the masterful presentation of the situation by the distinguished chairman of the Finance Committee (Mr. George) when he asserted that we must cut down expenditures or we must increase taxes. He warned that if taxes are increased we shall face the grave danger of a depression in 1949.

Mr. President, at a time when the American people are burdened with a national debt of almost $252,000,000,000 we are not justified in regarding as sacred any item in the budget, with two exceptions.

One is the interest on the national

"Dave" Was First in Line, But Bill Was Too Large

David Landreth, or "Dave" as he is known to countless sportsmen and other friends, must have had some fond memories when the 40th anniversary of opening of Shibe Park, Philadelphia, occurred yesterday.

According to one sports writer, "Dave" was first in line when the ticket window opened at 12:01 on that April day in 1909. A student at that time, he tendered a $5 bill, asking for three grandstand tickets. But it was so early in the day that Shibe Park business men didn't have change for a "five," so the honor of securing the first ticket went to George McFadden, of South Philadelphia.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by I. N. S.) Congress is expected to approve 5 billion for Europe, 65 million for the UN, 43 million for the Berlin airlift, 5 million to fix up the White House -- brother can you spare a dime?

After all it's just money.

Weathermen are meeting in Washington next week and we may be able to tell which way the wind is blowing after that.

The weathermen will discuss improved forecasting and they are hoping it won't rain.

But the weather bureau does as well with its forecasts as any other government bureau.

The Labor Department has forecast a summer of high employment or an increase in unemployment if it isn't -- that corresponds to the weatherman's "sunny all day if it doesn't rain."

"Stand-By" Rent Control Measures Before Committee

Harrisburg—Administration-sponsored stand-by rent control measures to supplement federal laws were before Senate committees today being prepared for swift passage.

Two bills, bearing administration approval and prepared by the Justice Department, were introduced by Majority Leader John M. Walker (R) Allegheny and Majority Whip Fred P. Hare (R) Somerset.

The legislation, to be known as the Emergency Rent Control Law, would set up a five-man State Rent Control Board to study housing, administer rent control, set maximum rents, decontrol rents and prohibit manipulation of housing charges.

Penalties for over charges would be not more than three times of the over-charge and not less than $25. Lawsuits against landlords making over-charges would have to be instituted within a year.

The measures would permit local municipalities to hold hearings to determine a need for rent control. If decontrols would be indicated local authorities would notify the Governor. Should he decide decontrol was advisable, the Federal Housing Expediter would be notified and the area would be taken from the list.

Sixteen "defense-rental areas," covering the state, would be governed by the Board. Should the major portion of a "defense-rental area" be decontrolled the Housing Expediter would abolish the remainder of the area.

Eastern Pennsylvania "defense-rental areas" set up under the proposed Walker-Hare bills were: Philadelphia-Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties.

WHO PAYS THE POSTAGE?

A means of communication used by millions of citizens, the penny postal card, would be boosted to two cents under the greatly increased postage rates advocated by Postmaster General Donaldson.
Other increases are proposed to bring the department out of the red, but none would affect more people than would a 100 per cent boost in postal card cost.

The postal situation is a bit baffling to the average citizen who for years was told that if a career man instead of a politician were placed at the head of the Post Office Department, service would improve over night. Donaldson started as a mail carrier
and worked his way to the top.
But he has proposed no improvement in the service. In fact, the average post office is not open as many hours a day as it was in the pre-Donaldson days.

Tons and tons of postage-free mail are carried every day. None of the numerous government bureaus pays a penny for stamps.
Hundreds of millions of tax notices are mailed sans postage. One federal department sent out millions of directives last year, including a prize-winner, "How to Determine the Sex of a Watermelon."

A booklet "Canada—Vacations Unlimited" is being delivered through the United States. The envelopes carry the notation "O.
H. M. S." which interpreted means "On His Majesty's Service." They are carried postage-free by the U. S. postal service.

UNDERMANNED PROFESSION

Maybe the movies are to blame for the widespread misconceptions
that prevail about psychologists and psychiatrists. Some films are fair to the profession. Others, unfortunately, portray psychologists and psychiatrists as incompetent
theorists, or as sinister Svengalis.
And some persons who have sought psychological aid, with unhappy and expensive results,
agree with these inaccurate portrayals.

The American Psychologist
Association says one remedy
would be for all states to pass laws requiring psychologists to be licensed, but that suggestion has an ulterior implication. Only Kentucky has such a law now. The profession, according to the association, teems with untrained quacks and well-meaning incompetents.

People who go to such racketers are sure to come away with an unwarranted distrust of psychologists and psychiatrists. Such persons are likely to take their emotional problems to fortune
tellers, astrologers or radio "counsellors."

The American Psychiatric Association is wrestling with problems not wholly dissimilar. Dr.
George S. Stevenson, its president, points out that there are approximately 4,500 psychiatrists in this country today, or only one-seventh as many as are needed.

With the demand so greatly exceeding the supply, it is inevitable that some practitioners should be ill qualified.

An Address By Sen. Edward Martin

The only alternative is increased taxation. I am convinced that higher taxes at this time would be detrimental to the public interest. Nevertheless, I would support higher taxes in preference to the enactment of legislation that would result in deficit financing.

Let me make it perfectly clear that throughout my public life I have supported progressive legislation. I do not say that any of the essential functions of Government should be curtailed, but I do say that we should advance in accordance with honest principles and sound fiscal policies. Furthermore,
we must remain within the limits
of our ability to pay without danger to the over-all national economy.

Let me illustrate. During the 4 years that I had the honor of serving as Governor of Pennsylvania I recommended and was supported by our State legislature in a progressive program based on sound fiscal policies and within the limits of our means on a pay-as-you-go basis.
We enacted into law a comprehensive program of conservation,
stream purification, flood control,
and reforestation. We expanded and improved the State highway system.
We assisted local communities in airport construction. Our educational system was strengthened by giving more aid to financially handicapped school districts and by increasing compensation to teachers.
We enacted into law provisions for a compulsory, thorough, and periodic physical examination of every child of school age in the Commonwealth.

We expanded recreational parks.
We inaugurated a program to moderate our mental and penal institutions. We established health clinics and provided funds for cancer research.

Workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, and occupational-disease laws were liberalized and benefits increased. A second-injury fund was established for the first time so as to return handicapped workers to gainful employment.
Our health and safety laws were enlarged and strengthened in order to protect our workers.

We established the best system
of blind pensions in the United States. We increased old-age assistance grants; also grants for dependent children and for direct relief.

Legislation was enacted to regulate strip mining so that land so utilized would be restored to useful purposes.

Large sums of money were appropriated by the legislature to carry out these worthy objectives. The point that I want to make is that despite increased appropriations for these various programs carried on in Pennsylvania, State taxes were reduced during the 4-year period by $222,900,000. We did not borrow one cent or increase the bonded indebtedness of our State. Instead, we reduced the State debt $79,784,000
and left Pennsylvania with a net debt of only $44,642,000.

That was progressive legislation based upon honest principles, sound fiscal policies and within the limits of our ability to pay. It is the application of these principles that I am appealing for today in the fiscal policies of our Federal Government.

Mr. President, I bring these matters to the attention of the Senate because it is our responsibility to place before the American people
the full facts of our financial condition so that they can judge with some degree of accuracy how much aid we can give to other nations without endangering the safety and security of our own people.

It is not my purpose to question
the value of continuing the assistance we are giving to the nations of western Europe. I am sure the American people strongly desire to restore the free people of Europe to economic stability and to build up their resistance against domination by communism. We want to help them get back on their feet,
but in so doing we do not want to destroy the economic strength of America. We do not want to bankrupt ourselves. The most solemn warning that can be sounded in America today is a warning against the rapidly increasing cost of government.

The distinguished Administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration, Hon. Paul G. Hoffman, in submitting his recent report stated:
"The Congress and the American people before deciding to assume the heavy burden of continuing this undertaking, should have full evidence assuring them that it deserves
their support."

Mr. Hoffman is right. But, Mr.
President, I contend that the American people are entitled to more than that. They should have not only full evidence that the European recovery program is deserving of support, but they should also have full, complete, and convincing evidence that they can afford it. At least they should have some guide-ance as to how much they can afford to spend without danger to their own well-being.

Mr. Hoffman's report gives a growing record of progress—splendid progress—toward recovery in western Europe. "The economic recovery achieved in 1948 is impressive," he states; and, pointing to one outstanding achievement, he reports
as follows:

The British budget has been brought into balance and the importance of this accomplishment

cannot be overemphasized.

I do not mean to minimize the importance of balancing the British budget, but it is my earnest hope that from this day forward we will have equal success in keeping our own budget balanced. That is so much more important.

Mr. President, a little less than 2 years ago we had before us a proposal from the President of the United States for the expenditure of $400,000,000 for aid to Greece and Turkey. I supported that proposal, with the warning that we must make a survey and inventory of our financial condition and we must determine whether we were willing to make the necessary sacrifices.

At that time I said:

The people of the United States and the Congress of the United States should be told the facts. They should be advised that they cannot burn the candle at both ends, or we shall find ourselves tomorrow where Britain finds itself today.

Our people must learn that there is a bottom even to the American pocket. I hope we shall not have to learn it the hard way, as the British did.

Our people must be told without equivocation and without deceit that if they spend abroad, they must pinch at home. I understand I am saying things that many people do not like to hear. Perhaps many will resent my saying these things.

However, I am not engaged in a popularity contest. I am after facts.
I am gravely concerned, just as all other Senators are, about the future of America.

Our people must be made to understand that if we build that barrier of gold in Greece and Turkey and Korea and elsewhere, we cannot spend the same money twice—
we cannot use it to buy comforts
and luxuries for our homes.

Our people must realize that they cannot expect new and expanded services from Washington.

Our people must be made to understand that it will be necessary to cut, and cut sharply, into Federal services which have been built up in the past 15 years. They must be told now that sacrifices will be in order
on the home front.

A year ago I vigorously supported the Economic Cooperation Act and urged its immediate enactment. I took occasion at that time to repeat the warning that its tremendous cost would demand the strictest economy at home.

At that time I said:

The United States is a rich and powerful Nation. But there is a limit to our resources. As our national defense and foreign obligations rise, frugality should be the watchword on the home front.

We must eliminate every frill, every proposal for new Federal services which cost the taxpayers money.

Every project not immediately
necessary should be either postponed or wiped out.

The cost of Government functions must be stripped to the bone, and the lobbyists and pressure groups
and their pet projects should be booted out the door.

We must remain solvent. We must be strong physically and spiritually if we are to meet the challenge that America must meet today.

In addressing the Senate at that time, I obtained unanimous consent to insert as part of my remarks a speech which I delivered a few days earlier before the Philadelphia Bulletin Forum. In the course of that address, I again sounded the warning in those words:

The people who pay the bills must know the value of their freedom and must be prepared to pay the price.

They must insist upon the elimination of new Government services and projects that eat up the money they pay in taxes. The people must know that we cannot spend the same money twice. If we spend it for preparedness we cannot afford an ever-increasing bureaucracy,
swollen pay rolls, and expanded
Federal functions on the home front.

The people must choose between liberty and independence and expensive governmental embroidery. If we love freedom we must be willing to forego the high-priced frills that have become part of our Federal system. We must insist that all projects not immediately necessary
be eliminated or postponed.

It means paring to the bone the cost of every government function.
It means that money expended, even for necessary functions, must be utilized to the maximum value of every dollar. It means that the lobbyists and pressure groups must be denied their pet projects.

Only by the strictest economy can we provide the necessary funds to insure ourselves against tyranny and aggression.

The Communists would like to see us in financial collapse, debt ridden, and bankrupt. That is the soil in which the seed of communism thrives.

Those who advocate unlimited spending are unwittingly giving aid and comfort to the forces that would destroy our freedom.

Yet, in the face of an uncertain future and the necessity for huge expenditures for peace and preparedness the administration in Washington has come forward with the most expensive proposals.

They would add billions of dollars to the cost of government here in America.

Whether we like it or not, this is the time for Spartan courage and sacrifice. We must keep America dynamic and solvent.

Mr. President, other Members of this body have sounded similar warnings, but these warnings have gone unheeded. The people of the United States should give a vote of thanks to the Senator from Virginia
(Mr. Byrd) for the work he has done in calling the attention of the people to our reckless spending.
Now we find every level of government in nearly every section of our country reaching out for higher taxes and new areas of taxation.
States, counties, cities, townships,
districts, and boroughs are all reaching into the pockets of the taxpayers in order to provide money
for increased spending.

Unless we check the tendency in that direction one thing is certain—we will go broke. The free enterprise plan of America will be destroyed.

Mr. President, if through such reckless extravagance we fail to keep our own economy sound, how can we expect to continue our aid to other nations? That is why I appeal to every legislative body in the land to put the brakes on spending; to place economy and prudence foremost in their objectives; to give encouragement to productive enterprise; and to aid in every way in maintaining our national income at a high level.

Unfortunately, we have witnessed in the last two decades a change in the whole thinking of millions of our people. They have been misled by false promises into believing that hard work and thrift are outmoded virtues. They have been taught that government is the source of everything that is needed to make life comfortable and secure.

Mr. President, no more dangerous theory has ever threatened our national existence. The tragic fact remains that the trend toward a socialistic form of government is interwoven with the false notion that government is better able to do things for the people than they can do for themselves. Too many of our people have accepted the idea that governments, State and national, have inexhaustible sources of revenue. They seem to think that money spent by the Government does not cost the individual citizen anything. The result has been a mad scramble for higher taxes all over our country. New ways and means of increasing taxation are being devised in order to provide funds for bigger Government spending.

Every level of Government is involved in this move to dig deeper and deeper into the pockets of the wage earner and into the resources of business and productive industry.
Tax and tax, spend and spend, has become the slogan in so many places all over the Nation. The statistics of the rapid increase in the cost of Government and the heavily increased burden of taxation and debt reveal one of the most shocking stories in American history.

It is not my purpose, Mr. President, to give a recital of all the figures, but I should like to point out some of the things that indicate clearly how dangerous the present tendency has become.

In 1930 the cost of operating the Federal Government was less than $4,000,000,000. Ten years later it had more than doubled, to $9,000-000,000. Our current bill for Federal Government is more than $42,000-000,000 a year.

In 1940, only 8 years ago, tax collections for all levels of Government were only $14,000,000,000. That was nearly 19% of the national income, or $109 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

In 1948, the total tax collections
had skyrocketed to above $55,000-000,000, better than 26 percent of the national income, or $377 for each individual.

Every time $1,000,000,000 was added to the cost of Government,
the tax bill went up $7 for every person in the United States, or $28
for the average family of four.

Spending by the Federal Government alone is now greater than all the money spent for food by all the people of all the 48 States.

Let us now consider the debt
which must be paid.

In 1930, the Federal debt was only $16,000,000,000. In 1940 it had climbed to nearly $43,000,000,000,
and today we owe approximately $252,000,000,000. That is about $1800 per capita or $7,500 for the average family. In other words, the Federal Government owes—listen, Mr. President—$15 for every dollar it owed 18 years ago.

Let us look at the debt from an other angle: In 1930, the total debt of all levels of Government, plus the private debt, was $188,000,000,000.
That was 44 percent of the national wealth, which then amounted to $428,000,000,000.

Mr. President, I hope all Senators will listen to this: Today the same public and private debt has shot up to almost $444,000,000,000, or 71 percent of the present national wealth of $620,000,000,000. Mr. President, let me repeat those figures. In 1930
the public and private debt was 44 percent of the national wealth. Today, the public and private debt is 71 percent of our present national
wealth.

Is it not plainly evident that at the rate we are going, it will not be long before the debt of our country will be greater than our entire national wealth?

We all know what happens to a corporation when its debts exceed its assets.

With the expansion of big government, the number of civilian employees has increased from about 600,000 in 1930 to approximately 2,200,000 today.

In 1930 there were less than 500
separate units in the Federal Government. Today there are more than 1,800 boards, bureaus, divisions, agencies, and commissions.

With these horrifying figures before us, let us look ahead and see what there is in store for us.

The budget offered by President Truman calls for the expenditure of nearly $42,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year. He has asked Congress to approve and to provide the funds for 15 new domestic programs to be financed out of general tax funds. In addition, he has asked for three new or expanded so-called social-welfare programs to be financed by pay-roll deductions.

He has proposed that an additional load of $1,000,000,000 be added to the tax burden of our people.
It must be remembered, however,

Two flag poles are to be erected. The board has also received encouragement in the way of a donation from Middletown township supervisors, to assist in the many expenses incurred in projects of this nature. The board has sent out requests for donations to several adjacent boroughs and townships, and is hoping for cooperation from all. Although the young folks have been using the field, the park was used officially for the first time on Sunday when Pennell String Band held a full-drill drill, showing off to advantage the beautiful new costumes of the members. Several hundred people were present for the occasion.

Electrical work and plumbing at the entrance building are expected to be completed shortly, also connections from Langhorne Spring Water Co.

Picnic tables, park benches, etc., are desired for the park which is located at Bristol and Hulmeville avenues. Alexander Knox, of this borough is treasurer, the board asking that any cash donations be sent to him.

Phila. Electric Co. Is Granted Rate Boost

HARRISBURG, Apr. 13—The Public Utility Commission today permitted the Philadelphia Electric Co. to increase its rates $9,587,541 annually, beginning next Monday.

The 12 percent increase will affect all of the company's 856,365 customers in Philadelphia, Delaware, Bucks, Chester and Montgomery counties.

Under the new tariff, approximately 45 cents a month will be added to the average residential customer's bill with the major portion of the increase reflected in charges to the utility's 195,501 commercial, industrial and miscellaneous customers, according to the PUC.

The commission explained that the new tariff is the first filed by the company for an increase since 1921.

"During the 27-year period since then," the commission said, "Philadelphia Electric, on the contrary, has made reductions totaling $23,841,287."

BENSALEM WINS SECOND GAME OF PRESENT SEASON

BETHAYRES, Apr. 13 — Bensalem Township High won its second straight game yesterday afternoon with a 7-1 verdict over Lower Moreland High. Both teams made seven hits in the contest.

Joe Mikeletis twirled the Owls to the triumph by his invincible pitching in the pinches. Mikeletis struck out eight batters and walked two. Only a triple by Boehn after Guthrie singled in the first inning prevented Mikeletis from a shutout victory.

The boys of Coach Marlon VanHorn clinched the tilt in the first frame by taking advantage of the wildness of McCorry, Lower Moreland's hurler. Oliver was passed and forced at second. Bader who forced Oliver stole and then scored on a double by George Ashton. Ashton pilfered third and crossed on a passed ball. Schmidheiser hit safely but McCorry walked the next three batters and then hit Graziosa with a pitched ball to force in two runs and bring Bensalem's total to four for the frame.

"Eddie" Oliver with a single and triple led the Bensalem batters. His three-bagger in the fifth scored Joe Graziosa with a run.

Bensalem won its opening game last week when it received a forfeit from the Southampton High team. Southampton was leading 8-7, and Bensalem had two runners on base when Coach Claude Lodge became irked at a Bensalem player colliding with a Southampton man for the third time during the tilt. He refused to continue the game so Umpire Harry Bauroth awarded the game to Bensalem.

TOO MANY ERRORS COST BRISTOL HIGH ITS OPENING GAME

Too many errors cost Bristol High its opening game yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field as the Warriors bowed to Palmyra High, 7-4. Nine miscues were charged to the Bristol team.

The erratic playing spoiled a nice pitching performance by Joe Ashby, local moundsman. Ashby held the Jersey team to but three hits and whiffed seven batters. He also contributed to the bad playing by two miscues.

The Palmyra team was fast to take advantage of the misplays of Coach Bloom's boys. In the first frame, it scored a quartet of tallies on but one hit. In the second inning, Palmyra scored another run without a base hit and scored twice in the third with but one hit.

From the third canto until two were out in the sixth, Ashby held Palmyra hitless and runless. Ferren broke this streak with his second hit of the afternoon but Gary struck out for the third out.

Bristol had six hits to its credit but failed to connect in the clutches. In the second session, two errors and a base hit produced a tally and a walk loaded the bags with but one out but neither Frankie Barbetta nor Marty Braam connected. Barbetta flying out and Braam hitting to the third baseman.

Bristol's best session was the fifth when Moll and Adams drew passes and Rich and Pindar followed with base smacks to score two runs. Dominick also walked to again pack the sacks with no one gone. But Ashby and Barbetta whiffed and Braam's fly went to Frablore in center field.

Both Joe Pindar and Frank Rich had two hits each for the losers.

that many of these new spending proposals are of the foot-in-the-door variety, opening the way to vastly increased expenditures when they are in full swing.

It has been estimated by experts that the minimum cost of these new projects, when they are in full operation, will shoot the Federal tax bill above $56,000,000,000.

It has been estimated also that if all the objectives of those promoting the new programs are realized, the added cost could reach the staggering figure of $42,700,000,000 a year, or an annual tax burden of approximately $84,000,000,000. That would be double the tax bill we are paying today.

Those figures should cause every American to stop, look, and listen. They are frightening. If we fail to check the trend toward unlimited spending now, we may never have another chance.

Last year's national income of $220,000,000,000, great as it was, cannot possibly sustain a spending program of such vast proportions, or any substantial part of it.

Furthermore, no one, whether an average citizen or an expert economist, can expect that we shall go on year after year with a national income as large as at present.

In fact, it is now clear that the income for 1949 will fall far short of the national income of 1948, because already employment is off in many industries.

There are now 3,500,000 unemployed in the United States. Lay-offs are increasing in metals, glass, pottery, textiles, plastics, electrical appliances, furniture, television, automobiles, and other products. In most cases the men laid off are skilled mechanics. It now looks as if unemployment would increase during the next few months.

When the inevitable drop comes, disaster will loom over us.

If the national income should drop to $175,000,000,000, the loss of Federal revenue would throw the present budget out of balance by at least ten to twelve billion dollars. We would be forced into deficit financing, and instead of reducing the present national debt of $252,000,000,000 we would go deeper and deeper into debt.

This deficit does not contemplate the additional spending programs not included in the budget, nor does it contemplate the North Atlantic Pact that we will consider in the near future.

At this time, nobody can predict how much it will cost to carry out the provisions of the North Atlantic Pact. Will this be followed by a Mediterranean Pact and a Far Eastern Pact which will require the spending of additional billions?

Will we be called upon, during this session of Congress to make appropriations to furnish the knowledge to improve the undeveloped areas all over the world, as was suggested by our President?

I cannot take the time of the Senate to discuss the continually increasing spending and taxes and debt at the other levels of Government, but the figures show that the same spending infection is spreading throughout State and local governments all over the Nation.

I regret that it has become necessary to paint such a gloomy picture. The sooner we come to a realization of the grave danger that confronts us, the better off we will be.

It means, very definitely, that unless we stop this drunken-spending spree we will soon find ourselves at the end of the road we have been traveling, the road to bankruptcy.

This threat of disaster is not something that may worry us in the far-distant future. It hangs over our heads at this very moment.

Unless checked, many of us in this Chamber today will see the tragic result—a bankrupt Nation, our businesses destroyed, and our freedom lost.

That is not comforting. It is, however, the price that we will be forced to pay if through carelessness, indifference, wasteful spending, and excessive taxation we allow the liberty that is our sacred heritage to slip from our hands.

In my career as a public official and as a soldier, covering 50 years, I have fought constantly to preserve and safeguard individual freedom.

I do not propose, and I am sure the Senate does not propose, to permit reckless and extravagant spending to destroy the freedoms that have been bought by the blood of patriots and heroes in every generation.

Mr. President, I have been criticized many times because I have constantly preached economy in government and lower taxes.

I shall continue to do so, because I am firmly convinced that it is the most positive program that can be presented to the American people.

With this crisis before us, it is the only program that will insure a future of freedom and opportunity.

I realize that it would be pleasant and popular to advocate spending, a something-for-nothing policy, without regard for the future of America, but I assure you, Mr. President, with all the emphasis at my command, that I shall never engage in such tactics. There is too much at stake for our country and the world.

Oh yes, Mr. President, the free spenders of today may receive popular acclaim. But the young of this generation and others that will follow will heap condemnation upon them.

The burden placed upon our children and their children will be back-breaking. It will be unbearable. They will have been deprived of all opportunity, even their very freedom.

Mr. President, on February 23 of this year, there appeared in the Detroit Free Press an editorial which sets forth, in language much more eloquent than any words of mine, the dangers which await us at the end of the road we have been traveling.

The writer of the editorial was discussing the Hoover proposals to eliminate Government waste and to establish a saving estimated at $3,000,000,000 a year.

His warning has direct application to the whole philosophy of unrestricted spending, inefficiency and mismanagement, which he terms "The American disgrace."

I should like to quote, in part, from that editorial. It has for its theme Our Greatest Danger. Financial Rocks Ahead. The editorial states:

"This country is faced with the greatest danger in its history. It is a disaster worse than war."

"For we have always been able before to rebuild after war and to grow mightier."

"That time has gone."

"The imminent danger with which we are confronted transcends all political differences."

"It is not a question of Republicans against Democrats or New Dealers against Old Dealers. It is not a conflict between unions and management. It has nothing to do with the progress of social security, national health or any other controversial question."

"The cold, stark, ugly fact is that the United States is rapidly drifting into national bankruptcy."

"Unless something is done to stem the tide we will be, within a few years, no better off than the nations of Europe."

"It is this condition for which the Moscow Communists are patiently and hopefully waiting."

"They know what is coming unless we wake up. They can well afford to wait."

"The insidious enemy which is serving Moscow as the deadliest of fifth columnists is mismanagement."

"It is bitterly ironic—but a great laugh for Stalin—that America, upon whose altars we have placed the god of efficiency, is dying of dry rot because of gross and stupid inefficiency."

"The most powerful business corporation in the United States would go into bankruptcy within a year if it were so wretchedly managed as is the business of our Federal Government today."

"There is this difference, however: The private corporation, mismanaged and criminally extravagant, would pay for its own sins and go broke; but the Government does not go out of business."

"It simply borrows more money which has to be paid through taxation until all business ceases, the factories remain idle, and the people starve."

"That is the history of all mismanaged nations since civilization began."

"We are now rapidly coming to that period."

"Only courage and vision can save us."

"Again, this newspaper states as emphatically as possible. This is not a party issue."

"We are victims of our own follies and the follies of past generations. The guilt rests with both parties and all classes. We thought our wealth would never end."

"Referring directly to the Hoover report, the editorial continues: 'No American of intelligence can read these reports without gasping in horror at our dangers.'"

"Yet, there is a grave possibility that the greatest task of its kind ever accomplished in the history of America will go for naught."

"The mean and petty politicians of both parties are seeking to destroy it for their own selfish ends."

"Here, then, is the call to the American people of every honest shade of political belief."

"Here is the challenge to save us from the fate for which Moscow is waiting."

"Shall we continue to drift?"

"Or shall we be aroused in time

by a mighty outburst of public sentiment?"

"The people of America have crusaded for war bonds, for Red Cross, for community chests, for every worthy effort devised by the mind of man."

"Twice in one generation they have gone to war to fight for human liberty. They have poured forth the lifeblood of their youth and their treasure. They have willingly and without protest taken upon their backs the most staggering burden of debt history has ever recorded."

"Has all this been in vain?"

"The Bible has said that where there is no vision the people perish. Will the leaders of the Republican and Democratic Parties, the National Association of Manufacturers and the AFL and the CIO, the church leaders of all denominations, every civic-minded group, every noonday club, every individual citizen unite as we have always done in war, to campaign against the evil which is destroying us?"

"Will there come a clarion call for battle?"

"Only public opinion can save the United States from the bureaucrats who stifle us."

"Public sentiment is everything," said Lincoln. "With public sentiment nothing can fail. Without it nothing can succeed."

"Our one hope is the people themselves."

"Facing the Communist horde—surrounded as we are by darkness and chaos across the world—this must be a holy crusade—a fight for God, for country, and for humanity."

"That is the end of the editorial. I strongly urge my colleagues who have not already done so to read the full text. It was inserted in the Appendix of the Record of March 1 by Representative Roy O. Woodruff, of Michigan, and may be found on page A1193."

This editorial lays down a challenge to each of us and to every other red-blooded American."

"Again I say that under existing conditions we are not justified in regarding any item in the budget as sacred, excepting the interest on the public debt and our duty to the disabled veterans and the dependents of those who gave their lives for their country."

"Mr. President, there is nothing sacred about the sum of $5,580,000,000 that we are asked to authorize by the terms of Senate bill 1209. But there is something sacred about preserving the solvency of America because to remain free a nation must be solvent."

"I shall, therefore, support an amendment to reduce the requested authorization by a reasonable amount."

"I am convinced this can be done without impairing the effectiveness or the progress of European recovery. I most sincerely urge my colleagues of the Senate to support such a reasonable reduction."

BRITAIN PREPARED FOR A WAR AT SEA

"Capable of Withstanding
Test" If The Need Arises,
It Is Claimed

TRIP TO THE ARCTIC

LONDON, Apr. 12 — (INS) — Endurance trials just completed in the Arctic Circle by the British Royal Navy have proven that Britain is prepared to wage a sea war if the need arises.

"Men, ships and equipment of the British Navy are capable of withstanding the test," according to Captain John Terry, commander of the aircraft carrier Vengeance which led the trials.

Vengeance and her escorts, with two destroyers, a frigate, a submarine and oil tanker, were equipped with special apparatus for the trip which lasted six weeks.

"The trials were at least 95 percent satisfactory," declared Capt. Terry.

"We learned an immense amount. Only disappointment was that on 15 out of 21 days gales and snowstorms made flying impossible. We learned enough, however, to show that the operation of aircraft in these areas is quite practicable."

A Sea Vampire, the British Navy's jet fighter, was flown for half a day, and a Sea Otter for another period. Flights by helicopter were very successful.

Other trials carried out by the Vengeance and her escorts included new methods of keeping guns, radio and radar equipment free from ice; the effects of extreme cold on the ship's company; and the efficiency of the latest type "survival suit."

Surgeon Lieut-Commander Boyd

Martin, largely responsible for the design of the suits, and two other officers volunteered to swim in water three degrees below freezing point, with an air temperature 22 degrees below, to test the clothing.

They swam 20 yards to a raft, remained on it for 10 minutes, and

suffered no ill-effects apart from very cold hands.

Amazing Results

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thionin in ancient Greece where, according to legend Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it. Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full. Try it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

URGES COUNCIL TO STOP THE SPEEDING

Newtown Residents Want A "Crackdown" Put In Effect

TO PROTECT KIDDIES

NEWTOWN, Apr. 14 — Residents of Newtown have petitioned Newtown borough council to "crack down" on speeders in portions of the town.

The petition was presented Burgess Walter Scott by Robert Cooke on behalf of parents in the South Chancery street area. "This is a dangerous highway" explained Mr. Cooke, who was accompanied to the meeting by George Cooley, Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Grace Baker. "We must 'crack down' on speeders and 'stop' sign violators. Our children are in constant danger."

Burgess Scott accepted the petition which was signed by more than a score of local citizens and stated that he would advise the police officer to patrol this area more frequently. Mr. Cooke thanked the council and stated that the parents were not interested in numerous arrests but that if arresting these reckless operators and violators would bring safety to the borough, then "let the Burgess and officer use their own judgement."

President Russell D. Bond agreed that it was time for action, especially at the corner of Penn and Chancery where "stop" sign violations are too frequent.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

STEAK, that perennial signpost on the road to good living, never seems to lose popularity with the American public. Though the manner of serving this savory dish seldom varies, a little imagination used in its preparation will serve to greatly enhance your family's enjoyment of the meal.

As an example of possible varieties, the A & P Service for Home-Makers recommends a Sunday dinner featuring sour cream Swiss steak. Properly prepared, this dish is certain to win praise, both for its flavor and unusual ingredients.

Several pounds of thick round steak, depending on the family's size and individual appetites, form the meal's basis. Other necessary ingredients include two tablespoons of chopped onion, one-third of a cup of flour, one-quarter of a cup of fat, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one cup of sour cream, and a small quantity of pepper.

First, wipe meat, then place on meat board and beat flour into meat until it will hold no more. Sear meat well in heavy frying pan in which there is one-fourth of a cup of hot fat. The onion may be browned before meat is seared, then saved until last half hour of cooking, when it is added.

After adding one-half cup of sour cream, cover frying pan and simmer slowly for an hour, adding remaining cream, and, if necessary, additional hot water. Add seasonings and continue cooking for a half hour, or until tender. The steak should be served with gravy.

Carrying out the tyrolean touch for this meal, a dessert of Snow Peaks, served with appropriate beverages, should have your family yodeling happily long after leaving the table.

It is suggested that all of the series be preserved, as from time to time reference may be made to articles previously published so as to prevent much duplication.

Passover Begins Today At Sunset For Reformed Jews

Passover, or Pesach, begins at sundown today and for Reform Jews concludes at sundown Wednesday, April 29th. Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe it one day, observing eight days, the first and last two days being Holy Convocations. The Hebrew date is the 15th of Nisan.

Passover is the oldest festival of liberty in the annals of civilization. Thirty-five hundred years ago the enslaved Jews revolted against the tyranny of the Egyptian taskmasters, escaped from slavery, blazed a trail across the wilderness, crossed the Jordan, and conquered Palestine, the Promised Land.

Since that day the Jews have observed this season with prayer and thanksgiving to God for the ideals of liberty and truth. The Passover meal, or Seder, ushers in the Holidays on the first night, and the whole history of the Passover is recited to the children. During this season unleavened bread or matzot is eaten, in commemoration of the fact that when the Jews fled Egypt they had no time to leaven their bread.

EASTER VACATION

Bristol public schools will close at 2:30 this afternoon for Easter vacation, re-opening on Tuesday morning next.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

President Truman sent the North Atlantic treaty to the Senate yesterday and asked for its ratification as a "long" step toward "a just and lasting peace." He made no request for speed, nor did he mention the arms-aid program to implement the pact. In New York City Australia's Deputy Prime Minister Ewart disclosed that his nation and the United States were studying a similar treaty for the Pacific area.

Although Defense Secretary Johnson said that he and the Joint Chiefs of Staff felt "war is a little further off today than it was a little while ago" two new steps were taken to meet any "emergency." Agreement was reached with Britain on technical "facilities" for the United States Air Force if atomic bombing was called for in Europe, and arrangements were completed with Canada for joint industrial mobilization in event of war.

A British suggestion that the United States finance the strengthening of the Greek Army was rejected on the ground that present aid was sufficient to defeat the guerrillas if properly used. In Salonika a witness who said he had been a Russian policeman accused Greek Communists of the murder of George Polk, a United States correspondent.

V. F. W., WAR MOTHERS TO PAY FOR MEMORIAL

Two Pennel Organizations Accept Responsibility For That Phase of Project

DONATIONS SOUGHT

PENNDL, Apr. 13—Middletown Post, No. 6084, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Douglas MacArthur Chapter, No. 1, American War Mothers, both of this community, have accepted responsibility for and will pay the costs of the memorial part of the war memorial center at Pennel Memorial Recreation Park, according to an announcement made today by park officials.

This beautiful memorial has been designed by Henry McGrath, Langhorne Manor, registered architect. The memorial is to be constructed of native stone to "grow" out of the front of the present building at the park entrance. It is to be trimmed with limestone, and topped with an American eagle. A three-section stone bench, with lawn in the center area of same, will extend from the building. A bronze plaque, 39x24 inches, will be placed on the memorial. Mr. McGrath will receive bids from local contractors for completion of the memorial, and will oversee installation of the same. He has worked with the park committee from the time the ground was secured. He first made the master plan of the entire field, then planned the building for the entrance which is fitted with toilets, storage space and dressing rooms. Mr. McGrath has made plans, and furnished scores of blue-prints free of charge, which park officials state is a great incentive to others giving of their time and talent.

AN ADDRESS BY SEN. EDWARD MARTIN

Because it is a timely and able summary of the basic problems facing the American people, the Courier presents herewith the text of an address on the European Recovery Program made April 1 by Pennsylvania's Senator Edward Martin on the floor of the U. S. Senate.

Mr. President, the outcome of these deliberations and the course we take in related matters may be the deciding factors between national solvency and national bankruptcy.

Therefore, in my opinion, it is incumbent upon us to weigh carefully and consider thoroughly the implications contained in the measure before us.

It should be tested in the light of the whole financial structure that has been erected in years of mounting debt, increasing taxation, and overgrown spending.

No thinking American could fail to be deeply impressed by the masterful presentation of the situation by the distinguished chairman of the Finance Committee (Mr. George) when he asserted that we must cut down expenditures or we must increase taxes. He warned that if taxes are increased we shall face the grave danger of a depression in 1949.

Mr. President, at a time when the American people are burdened with a national debt of almost $252,000,000,000 we are not justified in regarding as sacred any item in the budget, with two exceptions.

One is the interest on the national

"Dave" Was First in Line, But Bill Was Too Large

David Landreth, or "Dave" as he is known to countless sportsmen and other friends, must have had some fond memories when the 40th anniversary of opening of Shibe Park, Philadelphia, occurred yesterday.

According to one sports writer, "Dave" was first in line when the ticket window opened at 12:01 on that April day in 1909. A student at that time, he tendered a $5 bill, asking for three grandstand tickets. But it was so early in the day that Shibe Park business men didn't have change for a "five," so the honor of securing the first ticket went to George McFadden, of South Philadelphia.

"Stand-By" Rent Control Measures Before Committee

Harrisburg—Administration-sponsored stand-by rent control measures to supplement federal laws were before Senate committees today being prepared for swift passage.

Two bills, bearing administration approval and prepared by the Justice Department, were introduced by Majority Leader John M. Walker (R) Allegheny and Majority Whip Fred P. Hare (R) Somerset.

The legislation, to be known as the Emergency Rent Control Law, would set up a five-man State Rent Control Board to study housing, administer rent control, set maximum rents, decontrol rents and prohibit manipulation of housing charges.

Penalties for over charges would be not more than three times of the over-charge and not less than $25. Lawsuits against landlords making overcharges would have to be instituted within a year.

The measures would permit local municipalities to hold hearings to determine a need for rent control. If decontrols would be indicated local authorities would notify the Governor. Should he decide decontrol was advisable, the Federal Housing Expediter would be notified and the area would be taken from the list.

Sixteen "defense-rental areas," covering the state, would be governed by the Board. Should the major portion of a "defense-rental area" be decontrolled the Housing Expediter would abolish the remainder of the area.

Eastern Pennsylvania "defense-rental areas" set up under the proposed Walker-Hare bills were:

Philadelphia, Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties.

WHO PAYS THE POSTAGE?

A means of communication used by millions of citizens, the penny postal card, would be boosted to two cents under the greatly increased postage rates advocated by Postmaster General Donaldson. Other increases are proposed to bring the department out of the red, but none would affect more people than would a 100 per cent boost in postal card cost.

The postal situation is a bit baffling to the average citizen who for years was told that if a career man instead of a politician were placed at the head of the Post Office Department, service would improve over night. Donaldson started as a mail carrier and worked his way to the top. But he has proposed no improvement in the service. In fact, the average post office is not open as many hours a day as it was in the pre-Donaldson days.

Tons and tons of postage-free mail are carried every day. None of the numerous government bureaus pays a penny for stamps. Hundreds of millions of tax notices are mailed sans postage. One federal department sent out millions of directives last year, including a prize-winner, "How to Determine the Sex of a Watermelon."

A booklet "Canada—Vacations Unlimited" is being delivered through the United States. The envelopes carry the notation "O. H. M. S." which interpreted means "On His Majesty's Service." They are carried postage-free by the U. S. postal service.

Maybe the movies are to blame for the widespread misconceptions that prevail about psychologists and psychiatrists. Some films are fair to the profession. Others, unfortunately, portray psychologists and psychiatrists as incompetent theorists, or as sinister Svengalis. And some persons who have sought psychological aid, with unhappy and expensive results, agree with these inaccurate portrayals.

The American Psychologist Association says one remedy would be for all states to pass laws requiring psychologists to be licensed, but that suggestion has an ulterior implication. Only Kentucky has such a law now. The profession, according to the association, teems with untrained quacks and well-meaning incompetents.

People who go to such racketeers are sure to come away with an unwarranted distrust of psychologists and psychiatrists. Such persons are likely to take their emotional problems to fortune tellers, astrologers or radio "counselors."

The American Psychiatric Association is wrestling with problems not wholly dissimilar. Dr. George S. Stevenson, its president, points out that there are approximately 4,500 psychiatrists in this country today, or only one-seventh as many as are needed.

With the demand so greatly exceeding the supply, it is inevitable that some practitioners should be ill qualified.

The only alternative is increased taxation. I am convinced that higher taxes at this time would be detrimental to the public interest. Nevertheless, I would support higher taxes in preference to the enactment of legislation that would result in deficit financing.

Let me make it perfectly clear that throughout my public life I have supported progressive legislation. I do not say that any of the essential functions of Government should be curtailed, but I do say that we should advance in accordance with honest principles and sound fiscal policies. Furthermore, we must remain within the limits of our ability to pay without danger to the over-all national economy.

Let me illustrate. During the 4 years that I had the honor of serving as Governor of Pennsylvania I recommended and was supported by our State legislature in a progressive program based on sound fiscal policies and within the limits of our means on a pay-as-you-go basis. We enacted into law a comprehensive program of conservation, stream purification, flood control, and reforestation. We expanded and improved the State highway system. We assisted local communities in airport construction. Our educational system was strengthened by giving more aid to financially handicapped school districts and by increasing compensation to teachers. We enacted into law provisions for a compulsory, thorough, and periodic physical examination of every child of school age in the Commonwealth.

We expanded recreational parks. We inaugurated a program to modernize our mental and penal institutions. We established health clinics and provided funds for cancer research. Workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, and occupational-disease laws were liberalized and benefits increased. A second-injury fund was established for the first time so as to return handicapped workers to gainful employment. Our health and safety laws were enlarged and strengthened in order to protect our workers.

We established the best system of blind pensions in the United States. We increased old-age assistance grants; also grants for dependent children and for direct relief.

Legislation was enacted to regulate strip mining so that land so utilized would be restored to useful purposes. Large sums of money were appropriated by the legislature to carry out these worthy objectives. The point that I want to make is that despite increased appropriations for these various programs carried on in Pennsylvania, State taxes were reduced during the 4-year period by $222,900,000. We did not borrow one cent or increase the bonded indebtedness of our State. Instead, we reduced the State debt $79,784,000 and left Pennsylvania with a net debt of only $44,642,000.

That was progressive legislation based upon honest principles, sound fiscal policies, and within the limits of our ability to pay. It is the application of these principles that I am appealing for today in the fiscal policies of our Federal Government.

Mr. President, I bring these matters to the attention of the Senate because it is our responsibility to place before the American people the full facts of our financial condition so that they can judge with some degree of accuracy how much aid we can give to other nations without endangering the safety and security of our own people.

It is not my purpose to question the value of continuing the assistance we are giving to the nations of western Europe. I am sure the American people strongly desire to restore the free people of Europe to economic stability and to build up their resistance against domination by communism. We want to help them get back on their feet, but in so doing we do not want to destroy the economic strength of America. We do not want to bankrupt ourselves. The most solemn warning that can be sounded in America today is a warning against the rapidly increasing cost of government.

The distinguished Administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration, Hon. Paul G. Hoffman, in submitting his recent report stated: "The Congress and the American people, before deciding to assume the heavy burden of continuing this undertaking, should have full evidence assuring them that it deserves their support."

Mr. Hoffman is right. But, Mr. President, I contend that the American people are entitled to more than that. They should have not only full evidence that the European recovery program is deserving of support, but they should also have full, complete, and convincing evidence that they can afford it. At least they should have some guidance as to how much they can afford to spend without danger to their own well-being.

Mr. Hoffman's report gives a glowing recital of progress—splendid progress—toward recovery in western Europe. "The economic recovery achieved in 1948 is impressive," he states; and, pointing to one outstanding achievement, he reports as follows:

The British budget has been brought into balance and the importance of this accomplishment cannot be overemphasized.

I do not mean to minimize the importance of balancing the British budget, but it is my earnest hope that from this day forward we will have equal success in keeping our own budget balanced. That is so much more important.

Mr. President, a little less than 2 years ago we had before us a proposal from the President of the United States for the expenditure of $400,000,000 for aid to Greece and Turkey. I supported that proposal, with the warning that we must make a survey and inventory of our financial condition and we must determine whether we were willing to make the necessary sacrifices.

At that time I said: "The people of the United States and the Congress of the United States should be told the facts. They should be advised that they cannot burn the candle at both ends, or we shall find ourselves tomorrow where Britain finds itself today."

Our people must learn that there is a bottom even to the American pocket. I hope we shall not have to learn it the hard way, as the British did. Our people must be told without equivocation and without deceit that if they spend abroad, they must pinch at home. I understand I am saying things that many people do not like to hear. Perhaps many will resent my saying these things.

However, I am not engaged in a popularity contest. I am after facts. I am gravely concerned, just as all other Senators are, about the future of America.

Our people must be made to understand that if we build that barrier of gold in Greece and Turkey and Korea and elsewhere, we cannot spend the same money twice—we cannot use it to buy comforts and luxuries for our homes.

Our people must realize that they cannot expect new and expanded services from Washington.

Our people must be made to understand that it will be necessary to cut, and cut sharply, into Federal services which have been built up in the past 15 years. They must be told now that sacrifices will be in order on the home front.

A year ago I vigorously supported the Economic Cooperation Act and urged its immediate enactment. I took occasion at that time to repeat the warning that its tremendous cost would demand the strictest economy at home.

At that time I said: "The United States is a rich and powerful Nation. But there is a limit to our resources. As our national defense and foreign obligations rise, frugality should be the watchword on the home front."

We must eliminate every frill, every proposal for new Federal services which cost the taxpayers money.

Every project not immediately necessary should be either postponed or wiped out. The cost of Government functions must be stripped to the bone, and the lobbyists and pressure groups and their pet projects should be booted out the door.

We must remain solvent. We must be strong physically and spiritually if we are to meet the challenge that America must meet today.

In addressing the Senate at that time, I obtained unanimous consent to insert as part of my remarks a speech which I delivered a few days earlier before the Philadelphia Bulletin Forum. In the course of that address, I again sounded the warning, in these words:

The people who pay the bills must know the value of their freedom and must be prepared to pay the price.

They must insist upon the elimination of new Government services and projects that eat up the money they pay in taxes. The people must know that we cannot spend the same money twice. If we spend it for preparedness we cannot afford an ever-increasing bureaucracy, swollen pay rolls, and expanded Federal functions on the home front.

The people must choose between liberty and independence and expensive governmental embroidery. If we love freedom we must be willing to forego the high-priced frills that have become part of our Federal system. We must insist that all projects not immediately necessary be eliminated or postponed.

It means paring to the bone the cost of every government function. It means that money expended, even for necessary functions, must be utilized to the maximum value of every dollar. It means that the lobbyists and pressure groups must be denied their pet projects.

Only by the strictest economy can we provide the necessary funds to insure ourselves against tyranny and aggression.

The Communists would like to see us in financial collapse, debt ridden, and bankrupt. That is the soil in which the seed of communism thrives.

Those who advocate unlimited spending are unwittingly giving aid and comfort to the forces that would destroy our freedom.

Yet, in the face of an uncertain future and the necessity for huge expenditures for peace and preparedness the administration in Washington has come forward with the most expensive proposals.

They would add billions of dollars to the cost of government here in America.

Whether we like it or not, this is the time for Spartan courage and sacrifice. We must keep America dynamic and solvent.

Mr. President, other Members of this body have sounded similar warnings, but these warnings have gone unheeded. The people of the United States should give a vote of thanks to the Senator from Virginia (Mr. Byrd) for the work he has done in calling the attention of the people to our reckless spending. Now we find every level of government in nearly every section of our country reaching out for higher taxes and new areas of taxation. States, counties, cities, townships, districts, and boroughs are all reaching into the pockets of the taxpayers in order to provide money for increased spending.

Unless we check the tendency in that direction one thing is certain—we will go broke. The free enterprise plan of America will be destroyed.

Mr. President, if through such reckless extravagance we fail to keep our own economy sound, how can we expect to continue our aid to other nations? That is why I appeal to every legislative body in the land to put the brakes on spending; to place economy and prudence foremost in their objectives; to give encouragement to productive enterprise; and to aid in every way in maintaining our national income at a high level.

Unfortunately, we have witnessed in the last two decades a change in the whole thinking of millions of our people. They have been misled by false promises into believing that hard work and thrift are outmoded virtues. They have been taught that government is the source of everything that is needed to make life comfortable and secure.

Mr. President, no more dangerous theory has ever threatened our national existence. The tragic fact remains that the trend toward a socialistic form of government is interwoven with the false notion that government is better able to do things for the people than they can do for themselves. Too many of our people have accepted the idea that governments, State and national, have inexhaustible sources of revenue. They seem to think that money spent by the Government does not cost the individual citizen anything. The result has been a mad scramble for higher taxes all over our country. New ways and means of increasing taxation are being devised in order to provide funds for bigger Government spending.

Every level of Government is involved in this move to dig deeper and deeper into the pockets of the wage earner and into the resources of business and productive industry. Tax and tax, spend and spend, has become the slogan in so many places all over the Nation. The statistics of the rapid increase in the cost of Government and the heavily increased burden of taxation and debt reveal one of the most shocking stories in American history.

It is not my purpose, Mr. President, to give a recital of all the figures, but I should like to point out some of the things that indicate clearly how dangerous the present tendency has become.

In 1939 the cost of operating the Federal Government was less than $4,000,000,000. Ten years later it had more than doubled, to $9,000,000,000. Our current bill for Federal Government is more than $42,000,000,000 a year.

In 1940, only 8 years ago, tax collections for all levels of Government were only $14,000,000,000. That was nearly 19¢ of the national income, or $109 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

In 1948, the total tax collections had skyrocketed to above $55,000,000,000, better than 26 percent of the national income, or $377 for each individual.

Every time $1,000,000,000 was added to the cost of Government, the tax bill went up $7 for every person in the United States, or $28 for the average family of four.

Spending by the Federal Government alone is now greater than all the money spent for food by all the people of all the 48 States.

Let us now consider the debt which must be paid. In 1939, the Federal debt was only $16,000,000,000. In 1940 it had climbed to nearly $43,000,000,000, and today we owe approximately $252,000,000,000. That is about $1800 per capita or $7,500 for the average family. In other words, the Federal Government owes—listen, Mr. President—$15 for every dollar it owed 18 years ago.

Let us look at the debt from another angle: In 1939, the total debt of all levels of Government, plus the private debt, was $188,000,000,000. That was 44 percent of the national wealth, which then amounted to $428,000,000,000.

Mr. President, I hope all Senators will listen to this. Today the same public and private debt has shot up to almost $444,000,000,000, or 71 percent of the present national wealth of $620,000,000,000. Mr. President, let me repeat those figures. In 1939 the public and private debt was 44 percent of the national wealth. Today, the public and private debt is 71 percent of our present national wealth.

Is it not plainly evident that at the rate we are going, it will not be long before the debt of our country will be greater than our entire national wealth?

We all know what happens to a corporation when its debts exceed its assets.

With the expansion of big government, the number of civilian employees has increased from about 600,000 in 1939 to approximately 2,200,000 today.

In 1939 there were less than 500 separate units in the Federal Government. Today there are more than 1,800 boards, bureaus, divisions, agencies, and commissions.

With these horrifying figures before us, let us look ahead and see what there is in store for us.

The budget offered by President Truman calls for the expenditure of nearly $42,000,000,000 during the next fiscal year. He has asked Congress to approve and to provide the funds for 15 new domestic programs to be financed out of general tax funds. In addition, he has asked for three new or expanded so-called social-welfare programs to be financed by pay-roll deductions.

He has proposed that an additional load of $1,000,000,000 be added to the tax burden of our people. It must be remembered, however, Continued on Page Six Excellent movies, a casting exhibition, prizes and refreshments were highlights of the affair. President Sidney W. Popkin was in charge of the meeting.

Announcement of the donation of a substantial cash fund by C. W. Winter, one of Bristol's leading sportsmen, for a casting contest for children, was made last evening. The contribution will include the cost of a beautiful trophy. The casting committee of the association will operate the contest, full details of which will be announced at a later date.

Two flag poles are to be erected. The board has also received encouragement in the way of a donation from Middletown township supervisors, to assist in the many expenses incurred in projects of this nature. The board has sent out requests for donations to several adjacent boroughs and townships, and is hoping for cooperation from all.

Although the young folks have been using the field, the park was used officially for the first time on Sunday when Penndel String Band held a full-dress drill, showing off to advantage the beautiful new costumes of the members. Several hundred people were present for the occasion.

Phila. Electric Co. Is Granted Rate Boost

HARRISBURG, Apr. 13—The Public Utility Commission today permitted the Philadelphia Electric Co. to increase its rates $9,587,541 annually, beginning next Monday.

The 12 percent increase will affect all of the company's 856,365 customers in Philadelphia, Delaware, Bucks, Chester and Montgomery counties.

Under the new tariff, approximately 45 cents a month will be added to the average residential customer's bill with the major portion of the increase reflected in charges to the utility's 195,501 commercial, industrial and miscellaneous customers, according to the PUC.

The commission explained that the new tariff is the first filed by the company for an increase since 1921.

"During the 27-year period since then," the commission said, "Philadelphia Electric, on the contrary, has made reductions totaling $23,841,287."

Mr. Monroe capably explained various phases; then questions from other members of the council were addressed to him.

Mrs. Minerva Epstein conducted the meeting, and Miss Clara Owen accompanied the group singing of "America." Flag salute was lead by Miss Vansant. A brief business meeting was held.

Defines Action To Be Taken By Landlords

In answer to many queries from Bucks County landlords, Area Rent Director, Joseph T. Turchi, has defined the action to be taken by owners whose rental property is recontrolled or brought under rent control for the first time by the new rent control act.

Rent control applies now to all rental housing units, which were previously decontrolled because they were not rented for any successive 24-month period between February 1, 1945, and March 30, 1948. Landlords have until April 30, 1949, to register any of those units which were never under rent control. Previously registered units need not be re-registered, but the owners are advised to show the registration statements to the present tenant. The landlord cannot charge more than the maximum rent shown in the registration statement, plus or minus approved adjustments.

Landlords may obtain assistance in preparing registration statements at the local rent office located at 17 Brief Avenue, Upper Darby, Pa., and Room 416 Perry Building, 1530 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa. The registration forms will be mailed out on written request or by a call to Granite 4-4819 or Boulevard 5800.

Also recontrolled are all accommodations which were decontrolled because a 1947 voluntary rent increase lease was terminated prior to April 1, 1948. These are now recontrolled at their old lease rent and the landlord must file a report of termination statement with the area rent office by April 15, 1949, unless he has previously filed such a report. Accommodations covered by leases which expired or terminated on or after April 1, 1948, have been and still are subject to rent control.

Trailers and trailer spaces which on April 1, 1949, were not used exclusively for transient occupancy, are again subject to rent control. A trailer or trailer space is considered to have been used exclusively for transient occupancy on April 1, 1949, if it was rented on a daily basis to a tenant and then only if the tenant had not been in continuous occupancy since March 1, 1949. Hereafter, rents or fees for increased services on recontrolled units may be charged only on order of the Area Rent Director.

Order Unused Wells Closed in Sellersville

SELLERSVILLE, Apr. 13 — "We don't want a repetition of the Kathy Fiscus tragedy in Sellersville."

With those words Burgess Harry Barndt, at a special session of Sellersville Borough Council, said he will order closed all unused wells on private properties in the community. He emphasized that the death of the California tot, in an abandoned well, should prompt owners of wells to close them immediately.

Burgess Barndt said the open wells are a constant hazard to children, and council expressed unanimous agreement.

The meeting was called to award the contract for the digging of a new well on West Park avenue in an effort to alleviate water shortages which have plagued Sellersville for several years. The contract was awarded to a Flemington, N. J., firm for $10,000.

Council also ordered street markers, and expects to have them erected by June.

BENSALEM WINS SECOND GAME OF PRESENT SEASON

BETHAYRES, Apr. 13 — Bensalem Township High won its second straight game yesterday afternoon with a 7-1 verdict over Lower Moreland High. Both teams made seven hits in the contest.

Joe Mikelitis twirled the Owls to the triumph by his invincible pitching in the pinches. Mikelitis struck out eight batters and walked two. Only a triple by Boehn after Guthrie singled in the first inning prevented Mikelitis from a shutout victory.

The boys of Coach Marlon VanHorn clinched the tilt in the first frame by taking advantage of the wildness of McCorry. Lower Moreland's hurler, Oliver was passed and forced at second. Hader who forced Oliver stole and then scored on a double by George Ashton. Ashton pilfered third and crossed on a passed ball. Schmidheiser hit safely but McCorry walked the next three batters and then hit Graziosa with a pitched ball to force in two runs and bring Bensalem's total to four for the frame.

"Eddie" Oliver with a single and triple led the Bensalem batters. His three-bagger in the fifth scored Joe Graziosa with a run.

Bensalem won its opening game last week when it received a forfeit from the Southampton High team. Southampton was leading, 8-7, and Bensalem had two runners on base when Coach Claude Lodge became irked at a Bensalem player colliding with a Southampton man for the third time during the tilt. He refused to continue the game so Umpire Harry Baurath awarded the game to Bensalem.

TOO MANY ERRORS COST BRISTOL HIGH ITS OPENING GAME

Too many errors cost Bristol High its opening game yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field as the Warriors bowed to Palmyra High, 7-4. Nine miscues were charged to the Bristol team.

The erratic playing spoiled a nice pitching performance by Joe Ashby, local moundsman. Ashby held the Jersey team to but three hits and whiffed seven batters. He also contributed to the bad playing by two miscues.

The Palmyra team was fast to take advantage of the mis-plays of Coach Bloom's boys. In the first frame, it scored a quartet of tallies on but one hit. In the second inning, Palmyra scored another run without a base hit and scored twice in the third with but one hit.

From the third canto until two were out in the sixth, Ashby held Palmyra hitless and runless. Ferren broke this streak with his second hit of the afternoon but Gary struck out for the third out.

Bristol had six hits to its credit but failed to connect in the clutch. In the second session, two errors and a base hit produced a tally and a walk loaded the bags with but one out but neither Frankie Barbetta nor Marty Braam connected. Barbetta flying out and Braam hitting to the third baseman.

Bristol's best session was the fifth when Moll and Adams drew passes and Rich and Pindar followed with base smacks to score two runs. Dominick also walked to again pack the sacks with no one gone. But Ashby and Barbetta whiffed and Braam's fly went to Frabitore in center field.

Both Joe Pindar and Frank Rich had two hits each for the losers.

that many of these new spending proposals are of the foot-in-the-door variety, opening the way to vastly increased expenditures when they are in full swing.

It has been estimated by experts that the minimum cost of these new projects, when they are in full operation, will shoot the Federal tax bill above $56,000,000,000.

It has been estimated also that if all the objectives of those promoting the new programs are realized, the added cost could reach the staggering figure of $42,700,000,000 a year, or an annual tax burden of approximately $84,000,000,000. That would be double the tax bill we are paying today.

Those figures should cause every American to stop, look, and listen. They are frightening. If we fail to check the trend toward unlimited spending now, we may never have another chance.

Last year's national income of $220,000,000,000, great as it was, cannot possibly sustain a spending program of such vast proportions, or any substantial part of it.

Furthermore, no one, whether an average citizen or an expert economist, can expect that we shall go on year after year with a national income as large as at present.

In fact, it is now clear that the income for 1949 will fall far short of the national income of 1948, because already employment is off in many industries.

There are now 3,590,999 unemployed in the United States. Lay-offs are increasing in metals, glass, pottery, textiles, plastics, electrical appliances, furniture, television, automobiles, and other products. In most cases the men laid off are skilled mechanics. It now looks as if unemployment would increase during the next few months.

When the inevitable drop comes, disaster will loom over us.

If the national income should drop to $175,000,000,000, the loss of Federal revenue would throw the present budget out of balance by at least ten to twelve billion dollars. We would be forced into deficit financing, and instead of reducing the present national debt of $252,000,000,000 we would go deeper and deeper into debt.

This deficit does not contemplate the additional spending programs not included in the budget, nor does it contemplate the North Atlantic Pact that we will consider in the near future.

At this time, nobody can predict how much it will cost to carry out the provisions of the North Atlantic Pact.

Will this be followed by a Mediterranean Pact and a Far Eastern Pact which will require the spending of additional billions?

Will we be called upon, during this session of Congress to make appropriations to furnish the know-how to improve the undeveloped areas all over the world, as was suggested by our President?

I cannot take the time of the Senate to discuss the continually increasing spending and taxes and debt at the other levels of Government, but the figures show that the same spending infection is spreading throughout State and local governments all over the Nation.

I regret that it has become necessary to paint such a gloomy picture. The sooner we come to a realization of the grave danger that confronts us, the better off we will be.

It means, very definitely, that unless we stop this drunken-spending spree we will soon find ourselves at the end of the road we have been traveling, the road to bankruptcy.

This threat of disaster is not something that may worry us in the far-distant future. It hangs over our heads at this very moment.

That is not comforting. It is, however, the price that we will be forced to pay if through carelessness, indifference, wasteful spending, and excessive taxation we allow the liberty that is our sacred heritage to slip from our hands.

In my career as a public official and as a soldier, covering 50 years, I have fought constantly to preserve and safeguard individual freedom. I do not propose, and I am sure the Senate does not propose, to permit reckless and extravagant spending to destroy the freedoms that have been bought by the blood of patriots and heroes in every generation.

Mr. President, I have been criticized many times because I have constantly preached economy in government and lower taxes.

I shall continue to do so, because I am firmly convinced that it is the most positive program that can be presented to the American people.

With this crisis before us, it is the only program that will insure a future of freedom and opportunity. I realize that it would be pleasant and popular to advocate spending, a something-for-nothing policy, without regard for the future of America, but I assure you, Mr. President, with all the emphasis at my command, that I shall never engage in such tactics. There is too much at stake for our country and the world.

Oh yes, Mr. President, the free spenders of today may receive popular acclaim. But the young of this generation and others that will follow will heap condemnation upon them.

The burden placed upon our children and their children will be back-breaking. It will be unbearable. They will have been deprived of all opportunity, even their very freedom.

Mr. President, on February 23 of this year, there appeared in the Detroit Free Press an editorial which sets forth, in language much more eloquent than any words of mine, the dangers which await us at the end of the road we have been traveling.

The writer of the editorial was discussing the Hoover proposals to eliminate Government waste and to establish a saving estimated at $2,000,000,000 a year.

His warning has direct application to the whole philosophy of unrestricted spending, inefficiency and mismanagement, which he terms "The American disgrace."

I should like to quote, in part, from that editorial. It has for its theme Our Greatest Danger: Financial Rocks Ahead. The editorial states:

"This country is faced with the greatest danger in its history. It is a disaster worse than war. For we have always been able before to rebuild after war and to grow mightier."

That time has gone. The imminent danger with which we are confronted transcends all political differences.

It is not a question of Republicans against Democrats or New Dealers against Old Dealers. It is not a conflict between unions and management. It has nothing to do with the progress of social security, national health or any other controversial question.

The cold, stark, ugly fact is that the United States is rapidly drifting into national bankruptcy.

Unless something is done to stem the tide we will be, within a very few years, no better off than the nations of Europe.

It is this condition for which the Moscow Communists are patiently and hopefully waiting.

They know what is coming unless we wake up. They can well afford to wait.

The insidious enemy which is serving Moscow as the deadliest of fifth columnists is mismanagement.

It is bitterly ironic—but a great laugh for Stalin—that America, upon whose altars we have placed the god of efficiency, is dying of dry rot because of gross and stupid inefficiency.

The most powerful business corporation in the United States would go into bankruptcy within a year if it were so wretchedly managed as is the business of our Federal Government today.

There is this difference, however: The private corporation, mismanaged and criminally extravagant, would pay for its own sins and go broke, but the Government does not go out of business.

It simply borrows more money which has to be paid through taxation until all business ceases, the factories remain idle, and the people starve.

That is the history of all mismanaged nations since civilization began.

We are now rapidly coming to that period.

Only courage and vision can save us.

Again, this newspaper states as emphatically as possible. This is not a party issue.

We are victims of our own follies and the follies of past generations. The guilt rests with both parties and all classes. We thought our wealth would never end.

Referring directly to the Hoover report, the editorial continues:

No American of intelligence can read these reports without gasping in horror at our dangers.

Yet, there is a grave possibility that the greatest task of its kind ever accomplished in the history of America will go for naught.

The mean and petty politicians of both parties are seeking to destroy it for their own selfish ends.

Here, then, is the call to the American people of every honest shade of political belief.

Here is the challenge to save us from the fate for which Moscow is waiting.

Shall we continue to drift?

Or shall we be aroused in time

by a mighty outburst of public sentiment?

The people of America have crusaded for war bonds, for Red Cross, for community chests, for every worthy effort devised by the mind of man.

Twice in one generation they have gone to war to fight for human liberty. They have poured forth the lifeblood of their youth and their treasure. They have willingly and without protest taken upon their backs the most staggering burden of debt history has ever recorded.

Has all this been in vain?

The Bible has said that where there is no vision the people perish.

Will the leaders of the Republican and Democratic Parties, the National Association of Manufacturers and the AFL and the CIO, the church leaders of all denominations, every civic-minded group, every noonday club, every individual citizen unite as we have always done in war, to campaign against the evil which is destroying us?

Will there come a clarion call for battle?

Only public opinion can save the

United States from the bureaucrats who stifle us.

"Public sentiment is everything," said Lincoln. "With public sentiment nothing can fail. Without it nothing can succeed."

Our one hope is the people themselves.

Facing the Communist horde—surrounded as we are by darkness and chaos across the world—this must be a holy crusade—a fight for God, for country, and for humanity.

That is the end of the editorial. I strongly urge my colleagues who have not already done so to read the full text. It was inserted in the Appendix of the Record of March 1 by Representative Roy O. Woodruff, of Michigan, and may be found on page A1193.

This editorial lays down a challenge to each of us and to every other red-blooded American.

Again I say that under existing conditions we are not justified in regarding any item in the budget as sacred, excepting the interest on the public debt and our duty to the disabled veterans and the dependents of those who gave their lives for their country.

Mr. President, there is nothing sacred about the sum of $5,580,000,000 that we are asked to authorize by the terms of Senate bill 1209.

But there is something sacred about preserving the solvency of America because to remain free a nation must be solvent.

I shall, therefore, support an amendment to reduce the requested authorization by a reasonable amount.

I am convinced this can be done without impairing the effectiveness or the progress of European recovery. I most sincerely urge my colleagues of the Senate to support such a reasonable reduction.

BRITAIN PREPARED FOR A WAR AT SEA

"Capable of Withstanding
Test" If The Need Arises,
It Is Claimed

TRIP TO THE ARCTIC

LONDON, Apr. 12. (INS) — Endurance trials just completed in the Arctic Circle by the British Royal Navy have proven that Britain is prepared to wage a sea war if the need arises.

"Men, ships and equipment of the British Navy are capable of withstanding the test" according to Captain John Terry, commander of the aircraft carrier Vengeance which led the trials.

Vengeance and her escorts, with two destroyers, a frigate, a submarine and oil tanker, were equipped with special apparatus for the trip which lasted six weeks.

"The trials were at least 95 percent satisfactory," declared Capt. Terry.

"We learned an immense amount. Only disappointment was that on 15 out of 21 days gales and snowstorms made flying impossible. We learned enough, however, to show that the operation of aircraft in these areas is quite practicable."

day, and a Sea Otter for another period. Flights by helicopter were very successful.

Other trials carried out by the Vengeance and her escorts included new methods of keeping guns, radio and radar equipment free from ice; the effects of extreme cold on the ship's company; and the efficiency of the latest type "survival mit."

Surgeon Lieut-Commander Boyd

Martin, largely responsible for the design of the suits, and two other officers volunteered to swim in water three degrees below freezing point, with an air temperature 22 degrees below, to test the clothing.

They swam 20 yards to a raft, remained on it for 10 minutes, and

suffered no ill-effects apart from very cold hands.

RIDES OUT BRITISH BUDGET STORM

BEARING IN HIS BRIEFCASE a new British budget prescribing continued restrictions, Sir Stafford Cripps (arrow), Chancellor of the Exchequer, leaves his residence at No. 11 Downing Street, London. Surrounded by police, newsmen and bystanders, Cripps appears cheerful in the face of criticism directed at him by some Labor members of Parliament. The budget means high food prices and skimpy tax relief. (International)

GOOD NEWS FOR SICK PEOPLE

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Lousy Stomach.

Drugless Health

IF YOU ARE a sufferer of these ailments, try GEO-MINERAL. You may be astonished at the results. You need not guess—you will see. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth—Nature's Laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

GEO-MINERALS will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. Lack of minerals in the blood causes anemia, headaches, nervousness. Minerals generate mental brilliancy, give sparkling eyes, red cheeks, fight disease, build up health.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there regularly twice a year.

Amazing Results

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thionin in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it. Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full. Try it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

URGES COUNCIL TO STOP THE SPEEDING

Newtown Residents Want A "Crackdown" Put In Effect

TO PROTECT KIDDIES

NEWTOWN, Apr. 14 — Residents of Newtown have petitioned Newtown borough council to "crack down" on speeders in portions of the town.

The petition was presented by Burgess Walter Scott by Robert Cooke on behalf of parents in the South Chancery street area. "This is a dangerous highway" explained Mr. Cooke, who was accompanied to the meeting by George Cooley, Mrs. Bair, and Mrs. Grace Baker. "We must 'crack down' on speeders and 'stop' sign violators. Our children are in constant danger."

Burgess Scott accepted the petition which was signed by more than a score of local citizens and stated that he would advise the police officer to patrol this area more frequently. Mr. Cooke thanked the council and stated that the parents were not interested in numerous arrests but that if arresting these reckless operators and violators would bring safety to the borough, then "let the Burgess and officer use their own judgement."

President Russell D. Bond agreed that it was time for action, especially at the corner of Penn and Chancery where "stop" sign violations are too frequent.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

STEAK, that perennial signpost on the road to good living, never seems to lose popularity with the American public. Though the manner of serving this savory dish seldom varies, a little imagination used in its preparation will serve to greatly enhance your family's enjoyment of the meal.

As an example of possible varieties, the A & P Service for Home-Makers recommends a Sunday dinner featuring sour cream Swiss steak. Properly prepared, this dish is certain to win praise, both for its flavor and unusual ingredients.

Several pounds of thick round steak, depending on the family's size and individual appetites, form the meal's basis. Other necessary ingredients include two tablespoons of chopped onion, one-third of a cup of flour, one-quarter of a cup of fat, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, one cup of sour cream, and a small quantity of pepper.

First, wipe meat, then place on meat board and beat flour into meat until it will hold no more. Sear meat well in heavy frying pan in which there is one-fourth of a cup of hot fat. The onion may be browned before meat is seared, then saved until last half hour of cooking, when it is added.

After adding one-half cup of sour cream, cover frying pan and simmer slowly for an hour, adding remaining cream, and, if necessary, additional hot water. Add seasonings and continue cooking for a half hour, or until tender. The steak should be served with gravy.

Carrying out the tyrolean touch for this meal, a dessert of Snow Peaks, served with appropriate beverages, should have your family yodeling happily long after leaving the table.
